Letter From the Founder:

Lots of our children lack clothing
Lots of our children lack shoes
Lots of our children get laughed at
Lots of our children get booed.

Lots of our children are screaming
Because they're always abused
Lots of our children are crying
Because their love is refused.

Lots of our children lack parents
Lots of our children lack love
Maybe it's time to pray for
The things we need from above.

Please think of them when you're praying
Please think of them when you're awake
Please think of them when you're safe and warm
Please be the one a difference to make.

Let the little children come unto you'
Let them touch your soul and your heart
Let us remember how much we can give
Let's love and give them our part.

Please visit and volunteer this summer. Abuse never stops and is rampant in the summer.

Blessings to all of you who love the children and LOR.

F. Lynn Young

P.S. Does anyone know of any real estate contacts that would be willing to help LOR with a simple real estate transaction either pro-bono or well below market rates? I am looking for someone as soon as possible. Please call me at 412-2728.

MEET the LOR Team

Frances Lynn Young
LOR Founder

Lynn was born and raised in Columbia, South Carolina, where she attended Columbia Schools and later attended Winthrop College in Rock Hill, SC. Her religious background came from being raised in the Methodist church where she was a leader in several areas of the church, and President of the Methodist Youth Conference of South Carolina.

She taught in the SC public school system, married Preston G. Young, Jr. and raised five children. She then moved to the suburbs of Philadelphia where her husband ran his own company as a computer consultant to law firms all over the Northeast.

She returned home to South Carolina in 2000 to live in Charleston, and upon retiring from real estate marketing, she became a Guardian Ad Litem, a person who speaks for children in the court system. In July 2003 she formed the non-profit Lowcountry Orphan Relief, Inc. (LOR) after becoming aware of the great needs of abused and abandoned children in the city of Charleston. LOR served 1,037 children in 2007, supplying them with clothing, shoes, coats, toiletries and school supplies. LOR now has 3,600 square feet of storage for the children's supplies and a volunteer base of over 60 dedicated people.
